THINGS WHICH ROMAN CATHOLIC PRIESTS AND ALL TRUE ROMAN CATHOLICS HATE

Providence, July 22, 1854

1. They HATE our Republic, and are trying to overthrow it.
2. They HATE our Flag, and they grossly insulting it.
3. They HATE the liberty of the Press.
4. They HATE the liberty of speech.
5. They HATE our Public School system.
6. They HATE the Bible, and would blot it out of existence if they could!
7. They HATE Protestants, and are sworn to exterminate them from our country and the earth.
8. They HATE all rulers that do not swear allegiance to the Pope of Rome.
9. They HATE to be ruled by Americans, and say “WE WILL NOT BE RULED BY THEM!”
10. They HATE to support their own paupers and they are left to be supported by the tax paying Americans.
11. They HATE, above all, the “Know-Nothings,” who are determined to rid this country from their cursed power.

Document C: Historian account

This is an excerpt from historian David Roediger's book Wages of Whiteness.

Irish-Americans workers . . . [were sometimes] used as substitutes for slaves within the South. Gangs of Irish immigrants worked ditching and draining plantations, building levees and sometimes clearing land because of the danger of death to valuable slave property (and, as one account put it, to mules) in such pursuits . . . One Southerner explained the use of Irish labor on the grounds that: “n-----s are worth too much to be risked here; if the Paddies (Irish) are knocked overboard . . . nobody loses anything.”

Irish youths were also likely to be found in the depleted ranks of indentured servants from the early national period (early 1800s) through the Civil War. In that position they were sometimes called “Irish slaves” and more frequently “bound boys.” . . . In New York City, Irish women comprised the largest group of prostitutes, or as they were sometimes called in the 1850s, “white slaves.”
